PEACE LOOMS FOR SPAIN

Il Duce Agrees To Call in Troops

By KINGSBURY SMITH

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 8—Peace loomed for Spain today after the most sanguinary of modern civil wars as Italy agreed to the major initial step in a broad plan to settle Italo-British difficulties in the Mediterranean.

Not only Italy but the Spanish Insurgent regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco has agreed to the withdrawal of 10,000 foreign troops now fighting against the government, according to messages from Burgos.

Release of all alien forces was promised at Geneva last week by Julio Alvarez del Vayo, Barcelona foreign minister.

AMERICANS RECALLED

The Lincoln-Washington brigade, composed of American volunteers on the government side, has already been recalled from the front and is being demobilized.

Immediate recall of the 10,000 Italian troops is step No. 1 in a british plan which will lead to London's recognition of the Italian domain in Ethiopia.

Application of the long-delayed Italo-British agreement, which depends on a settlement in Spain, will be the next step.

After the British recognition of the Ethiopian conquest, French recognizance is expected to follow through appointment of a French envoy to Rome—an agreement which has been held in abeyance for two years.

FRANCO LOSES PLANES

Withdrawal of a substantial amount of Italian war material from the Spanish insurgents is also looked for in the British plan, in addition to men.

Premier Mussolini, according to the understanding in British circles, had already agreed to the recall of some war material, including airplanes and tanks, and reliable dispatches from Rome, at the time Il Duce departed for the four-power Munich conference, said he went prepared to take back 10,000 Italians from Spain.

Today's announcement in Rome, telling of the recall of the 10,000, was made in order to facilitate appointment Tuesday of a French

Stocks Push To New Tops

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—Rails, steels and specialties today led the stock market on another upward push.

While profit-taking was still a deterrent in many cases, favored issues advanced fractions to around $2 a share, many to new highs for the past year. Dealings were active throughout and quotations were around the best in the final hour.

ACCIDENTAL shooting death of his chum, James Dunning, brought grief to Edward Phillips of Jamaica Plain. He put his head on table in police headquarters and wept bitterly. He told how pair had been having target practice and gun went off when they thought it wasn't loaded.

Remorse

Free Boy, Rap Dad in Tragedy

Parental laxity in the care of loaded firearms was inferentially blamed in court today for the fatal shooting of James Dunning, 18, of McBride street, Jamaica Plain, by a schoolboy chum.

Dunning was shot in the cellar of his home by dEward Phillips, also 18, during target practice with a revolver.

Judge Daniel W. Casey in West Roxbury court absolved Phillips of blame for the tragedy, but severely chastised his father, Albert Phillips, McBride street, for leaving the gun in a place accessible to the two youths.

While his son sobbed uncontrollably nearby, the elder Phillips was called to the bench by Judge Casey and interrogated about the care he exercised over the revolver.

Phillips admitted he frequently left open the bureau drawer where the loaded gun was usually kept.

"I don't think," Judge Casey admonished the father, "that you should have left a loaded revolver in a place where these boys could have access to it.

"You should have seen to it that no one but yourself could get possession of that loaded revolver."

Accused Son, Mother Weep

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8 (INS)—For a swift hour today Charles McDonald visited his stricken mother under guard, then returned to jail to await trial for the attempted murder of the wife of an internationally known philharmonic orchestra conductor.

Mrs. Lucy McDonald, seriously ill from a nervous breakdown and bronchial asthma, and her son wept together when he entered her room and knelt by her bedside. They spoke only indirectly of the shooting in Hollywood of Mrs. Kari Krueger, which nearly resulted in her death. McDonald told his mother:

"Don't worry. I'll get out of this all right and be home with you soon."

ILL mother was visitied by Charles McDonald, held in shooting of woman in California. Note handcuffs.

Rule Cambridge Plan 'E' Can Go On Ballot

A referendum on the city management plan of Cambridge was assured a place on the November ballot today by a ruling of the State Ballot Law Commission.

The petition for placing the fore the voters next month was declared by the commission to be "valid and sufficient in all respects."

The commission ruling over-rode the rejection of the petition by the City Council, which defeated the measure last night by a vote of 12 to 2.

The brief hearing before the ballot law commission today was enlivened by a tilt between Atty. George McLaughlin, counsel for supporters of the plan and Carroll Lehane, principal opponent.

Peggy Fears Sues 'Blumey' in Dedham

Peggy Fears of New York, 30-year-old former Ziegfeld Follies girl, today shifted her marital wars with A. C. "Blumey" Blumenthal, her realtor husband, into Dedham Superior Court.

MARY KORNMAN TOVER
Grown Up, Wins Divorce

PEGGY MOFFETT

In a bill of equity, dark-eyed Peggy seeks to collect a 10,999 separate support judgment granted in New York Supreme court, naming her estranged husband and his sister, Miriam Rogers of Brookline.

The suit, filed in the name of Margaret Fears Blumenthal, charges that her husband in October, 1937, transferred to his sister one-fourth interest in the Eastern Theaters, Inc., allegedly to prevent payment of the New York judgment.

JUNE LANG'S DENIAL

The interest, Peggy avers, paid $41,000 dividends in July and August of 1938 to Mrs. Rogers for the benefit of Blumenthal.

The wars of the Blumenthals long have held the headlines with Peggy vainly seeking to collect $20,000-a-year separate support, a figure she maintains was agreed on when they separated on June 20, 1934.

Lately, "Blumey's" name was romantically linked with the movie starlet June Lang, after the pair found themselves sailing for Europe on the same boat.

But June when beseiged by reporters on her return said there was going to be no marriage.

"Yes, I saw a lot of Mr. Bluemthal," the Hollywood blonde stated. "But we're not going to be married."

COURT FORBIDS SALE

Judge James C. Donnelly of Suffolk Superior Court this morning granted a temporary restraining order, preventing Mrs. Rogers from disposing of any of her brother's estate, now in her charge.

The bill is returnable for trial date in Dedham Superior Court the first Monday in November.

Peggy claims in the Dedham action that Blementhal failed to satisfy a $10,999 judgment granted her in December, 1936, in New York Supreme Court. She claims she has exerted every effort to collect the money but that the judgment is still outstanding. She states she has been unable to locate property in her husband's own name.

DETECTIVES TRAIL HER

For days the lithsome Peggy has claimed that $20,000 a year separate suit is great if she only can get it.

But there's the hitch, she says—that, and detectives following her around all the time.

"And it's just horrible, simply horrible," she said, "the way he has detectives follow me day and night.

"He tapped my telephone and had records made of conversations in my apartment and played them for all his friends. I'm afraid they must have been rather badly bored."

Blumenthal accused the former showgirl of "caressing persons of ill-repute in public" until her conduct has become "a matter of public scandal."

Miss Fears, who recently announced in Hollywood that she was "down to my last string of pearls," said she now planned to spend the last string "bead by bead" to protect her friends against Blumenthal's charges.

"I've defied him to name these people," she said. "He's either doing it to frighten me or to make me accept a very cheap deal, which, believe me, I won't."

She said Blumenthal "asked her to accept $50,000 as a final settlement, wiping out the $67,000 she said she loaned him, plus the $20,000-a-year alimony she claims she dosen't get and a matter of $9000 a year on a private debt.

Peggy Moffett Is Bride

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (INS)—Mrs. Peggy Moffett Carlyle, daughter of James A. Moffett, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, was married quietly here yesterday to wealthy, polo-playing George Atwell, Jr., it was revealed today.

Mrs. Moffett is the former wife of Jay F. Carlyle, Jr., wealthy New York broker and present husband of Mrs. Marcelle Edwards Carlyle, fourth wife of Tommy Manville, heir to the asbestos fortune.

Atwell's former wife, the daughter of Princess Hohenlohe-Schilling-Furst, obtained a Reno divorce last month, charging cruelty.

Lily Denies Stork on Way

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 8 (INS)—Certainly she wants babies, Lilly Pons said here today. But she denied vehemently that the stork was fluttering anywhere near her as she toured busily about the country.

"It is utterly ridiculous," she declared in replying to the printed gossip that she and her new husband, Andre Kostelanetz, are expecting an addition to their family.

"Yes," she said, "some day not so terribly far off, I intend to settle down in my home at Norwalk, Conn., and raise a family—but not just now. If our first child should be a boy, I think we would name it 'Andre.'"

SUSPECT ON WAY BACK

Anthony Farschuck, wanted in connection with the alleged kidnaping of Roland Robichaud, Lawrence taxi driver in December, 1936, is on his way back from Kenora, Ont. in custody of a federal officer. He was arrested at a mining camp.

Kids' Letters Swamp Hector

Well, Kiddos . . . you've got me . . . Yep, you've got me guessing . . . and wondering what the future has in store for poor little Hector of the Hurricane!

HOMELESS HECTOR

And today you find me behind a pair of eyeglasses . . . I've been reading all your grand letters . . . each one a pip . . . and right from the heart.

But, I must say, this is a problem . . . I don't know which way to turn . . . I'm really in a fog . . . Yes siree, pardner, I'm all at sea.

Well, sir, let me kinda dig into the huge piles of fan mail . . . I wanna let you Fellers in on some of this swell stuff . . . Just take a peek over my shoulder . . . Yeh, get a squint at a few of these letters . . . Gee Whillikers, Neighbor, these kinda make you think . . . Yep, make you realize that there isn't a soul who wouldn't do anything but a kind act for a dumb animal in need.

FIXED PAW

So I'm going to let you form your own opinions in this matter of consideration for the down-trodden of the animal world.

Listen! ! !

Dear Homeless Hector:

I don't think I have ever done as good a deed as when I fixed a puppy's foot.

I crossed the street and saw that he had a thorn in his foot. I took him to my house and with a quick jerk pulled the thorn out. When his paw was healed, I let him go and saw him scamper down the street. I wish I had a puppy.

DAVID, Dorchester.

Dear Hector:

I've heard how you feel, and I think I'll make you feel a little better, if not more. Well, I think I can give you a good home. You'll get fed two times a day, and have a furness to sleep by. So I think I can give you a good home.

I've got to close now. Here's hoping you get a home.

NORMAN, Fitchburg.

Dear Sirs:

I would like very much to have the little Hector dog. One day a dog came to the house. He was homeless so I brought him in the house and fed him. One day he died, it was a sad day then. I was awful lonesome. Then I saw this story in the paper. I want ever so much to have him. I will take good care of him if I get him.

MARIESTA, Rockland.

Well, Buddies, how about giving me a breathing spell while I think it over? . . . Everyone is so kind . . . so thoughtful . . . so wonderful . . . and I'm so confused ! ! ! Ho hum!

(Editor's note: You have but a few more hours to get your bid in for Homeless Hector of the Hurricane. Letters telling of a good deed for a dumb animal must be postmarked before midnight Saturday and sent to the Dog Editor of the Boston Evening American.)

Leo Tover's 'Ex' Advised On Hubbies

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 8 (INS)—The next time Mary Kornman, the "Little Mary" of "Our Gang" comedies a few years ago, falls in love, she will wait until she knows her man better before she marries.

Leo Tover

She had received this advice today from a judge who granted her a divorce from Leo Tover, film cameraman.

Miss Kornman, in testifying that her husband humiliated her by being rude to her guests, admitted she had been engaged to Tovr only a fw weeks before she eloped with him to Yuma, Ariz., in March, 1934.

"I advise you to know the next man you marry longer than this one," said Judge William Baird.

"Little Mary" played in the "Our Gang" films for nine years and recently returned to the films to play adult roles.

Thebaud and Bluenose Hold Fast Trial Runs

Spanked by a brisk northwest breeze, the Canadian and American rivals for the championship of the North Atlantic fishing fleet today made a trial run around the course they will follow tomorrow in the first of a series of races to decide the international championship.

The American entry, Gertrude L. Thebaud of Gloucester, and Bluenose, the Canadian aspirant for championship honors, both were pronounced fit by their respective masters for the marine battle.

READY FOR TEST

At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning they will line up off Bass Point, Nahant, for the starting gun and follow a triangular course for a distance of 18 miles.

The race will mark the third time these two vessels have competed for international honors.

The Thebaud won over the Bluenose in 1930 but the Canadian entry reversed that result in 1931.

Fine weather has been promised for the race by the federal forecaster. He predicted that sunny skies and moderate northwest winds would prevail.

VETERANS IN CREW

Any advantage which might be claimed by either of the boats as they were making final preparations today for the race was unanimously ceded to the Thebaud.

Fourteen of her crew of 30 have sailed in both previous contests while the Bluenose can only boast of ten race veterans.

The race in Boston harbor tomorrow will be the first heat out of four scheduled for the boats.

On Tuesday and Thursday the fishing vessels will race off Gloucester and then return to Boston the following Sunday for the final run.

At the helm of the Bluenose will be Captain Angus Walters, one of the shrewdest strategists among Canadian fishing fleet masters.

Pitted against him will be Captain Ben Pine of Gloucester.

2 Girls Held in 'Bandit' Crash

Posing as insurance salesmen to trap their quarry, State Police today arrested two pretty Greater Boston girls, alleged companions of two youthful bandits, and sped them for arraignment in Ayer District Court.

The girls, Mary H. Prasinos, 17, of Bowdoin street, Cambridge, and a 15-year-old Dorchester girl were seized in their homes after the "insurance cops" had traced a rebate bottle cap of the Cambridge Surplus Commodities Department.

The bottle cap was the only clue left at the scene of a stolen automobile crash in Ayer, where two young couples outdistanced police in a dash through thic woods.

The sleuthing police were State Troopers Leonard King and James Leary who described their methods to Judge Lyman Clark when Miss Prasinos was arraigned on a charge of unauthorized use of an automobile.

The police charge the girls and their companions, the latter wanted for Brookline and Cambridge holdups, escaped from Ayer in a second automobile stolen from a Groton man.

After a plea of not guilty, the case of Miss Prasinos was continued for one week and she was remanded to jail in lieu of $100 bail.

The case of the 15-year-old Dorchester girl was continued for one week for hearing in juvenile sessions.

The troopers revealed they posed as insurance men to investigate the case and after finding one of the girls with cuts on her face learned that she had been treated at Cambridge Hospital a few hours after the crash in Ayer.

Dean A. Chester Hanford of Harvard has officially apologized to Commander George D. Buchanan of Cambridge Post, American Legion, for the incident.

Silverman Will 'Tell All' In Graves Case

"I'll tell the truth—and the whole truth—about the Graves case when my day in court arrives."

This today was the promise of Samuel Silverman, former corporation counsel of Boston, in connection with a statement read in Suffolk superior court alleging the city's legal counsel received $5000 in the settlement of the General Equipment damage case.

Silverman, appointee of former Mayor James M. Curley, was the city's counsel at the time the now famous settlement was made.

Subsequently, Curley and Dr. Santosuosso were ordered to repay about $60,000 in a civil suit brought by the city.

The statement read was one purportedly obtained by Stuart Rand, Boston attorney, from Frederick H. Graves, insurance adjuster, on trial on charges of perjury.

"I can say nothing more about the city suit or any statements that are made in the Graves perjury case now," Silverman said today.

WANTS TO TALK

"The case is before the courts, but I am a witness, and I will tell all I know of the settlement when I am called. It would be improper for me to say anything now, no matter how much I would like to."

Silverman's name was shot into the trial by way of Graves' alleged St. Louis statement, read publicly for the first time. Trial will resume Monday morning.

According to testimony already given, Rand went to St. Louis to see Graves after being contacted there by Harold A. Osborne, general manager of the United Shoe Machinery Corporation, who had known Graves for 30 years.

In the statement as read, Graves declared:

"We had tried to settle the case but the Mayor said we couldn't and Corporation Counsel Silverman said we couldn't."

RETURNED $1000

"At one time I got $1000 in New York and gave it to Dr. Santosuosso to give to Silverman to get a settlement.

"Santosuosso told me he gave it to Silverman and later Silverman gave it back to him and he gave it to me, saying that Silverman couldn't go through."

Swing Him High!

Many Parties Arranged For Jitterbug Contests

REVERSE swing is practiced — but to perfection — by Florence Priest and Richard Wessell of Cambridge. Pair won preliminary jitterbug contest at Weymouth Tent.

Many are the parties, big and small, being arranged to attend Boston Garden on that memorable-to-be-evening of Monday, October 24.

That's the night that Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees fight the cause of straight harmonious melody against "Killer-Diller" Benny Goodman and his noted exponents of swing-mania.

The evening marks the first occasion in the history of the dance that fandom has enjoyed the opportunity to judge for itself the merit of "Straight" and "Swing" with these world's greatest orchestras providing the music and these world's greatest band leaders directing.

TICKET SALE HEAVY

Tommy Waters, head of the Garden ticket staff, is frankly amazed at the party spirit which prevails among those obtaining their tickets early.

"Fathers and mothers are taking their youngsters, the aunts and uncles. Clubs are banding together and getting blocks of seats. Parties are being made up of office workers, of school teachers, college boys and girls.

"And we've had an astonishing response from society personages, people who have been accustomed to paying big money to listen to Vallee, Goodman and Harry Marshard.

"However there are thousands of fine seats at the Garden and there will be room for every single person who wants to attend either as a spectator or as a dancer.

ALL SEATS GOOD SEATS

"We are selling tickets now and will be right up to the time that Goodman, Vallee and Marshard perform. We like to think, too, that every seat at Boston Garden gives a good view of the jitterbug competitions, none will have any trouble in seeing everything there is to be viewed."

The big night is fast approaching. It's only a couple of weeks away.

It will be an evening replete with the finest of musical entertainment, dance exhibitions, competitions and general public dancing.

But what pleases our New Englanders most is the dance band program, Vallee and his "Straight," Goodman and his "Swing," Harry Marshard hitting the happy medium with his blend of straight and swing.

More Dates Open For Jit Prelims

There never has been anything just like swing in the category of the dance. And there's never been anything in dancing like the modern jitterbug craze

Put a crowd of rabid jitterbugs or alligators to real "hot" swing music as played by masters and the result is swing-mania—or the most spectacular, most interesting, most colorful antics ever performed to music.

Franco Agrees To Troops Withdrawal

By FRANK GERVASI

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)

ROME, Oct. 8—Withdrawal of approximately 10,000 Italian troops from the Insurgent forces in Spain was announced officially today.

An official communique said:

"Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco has ordered immediate repatriation of Italian legionnaires who have served without interruption for more than 18 months.

"That is nationalist Spain's contribution in an efficacious manner to re-establishment of international peace and to satisfaction of the desires of the non-intervention committee."

An unimpeachable source revealed to International News Service that in return for the withdrawal of the Italian troops Italy in all probability will receive British recognition of Ethiopia.

Mussolini's decision to accede to the British request for removal of 10,000 of his soldiers from Spain as a "token" that settlement of the Spanish conflict is under way marks a major step toward placing the Anglo-Italian friendship pact into effect and possibly toward ending the civil war at an early date.

Italian volunteers have been concentrated at key points in Spain for embarkation. The 10,000 withdrawn are due to arrive in Naples on October 16.

2 Bostonians Freed By Franco's Troops

According to dispatches today, two Boston boys, former members of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade of the Spanish Loyalist Army, were released from an insurgent prison camp and set free on French soil.

The Bostonians are Doneg Barbarian of Tremont street, South End, and Roger Braley of the National Maritime Union, Atlantic avenue.

Wearing ragged khaki uniforms, the Boston men, with several other American members of the Loyalist army, were taken to the Spanish side of the International bridge under guard and then allowed to cross to the French side.

Arrangements were being made to send them to Paris preparatory to embarkation for the United States.

Czechs Bow Again To Hungary's Protest

BUDAPEST, Oct. 8 (AP)—Hungary protested to the Czech government today against continued defense measures of the Czechoslovak army along the frontier and against "increased terror" in Hungarian minority districts.

The protest was made a few hours after the Hungarian foreign office announced negotiations on Hungary's minority claims would start Sunday at Komarom.

It was believed in diplomatic circles Prague already had granted certain concessions to Hungary whereby Hungarian forces would occupy two border towns "symbolically" before negotiations start at 7 p. m. (1 p. m., E. S. T.) Sunday.

Vienna Nazis Riot As Cardinal Talks

VIENNA, Oct. 8 (AP)—A hostile demonstration involving youths who had heard Theodore Cardinal Innitzer preach a stirring sermon and customers of a Nazi-frequented cafe created a disturbed atmosphere here today.

Police were summoned to restore order after blows had been exchangd by members of small groups and some arrests were made.

Angry roars came from a crowd gathered in the heart of Vienna in St. Stephen's square on which are St. Stephen's Cathedral, the Cardinal's residence and the cafe popular among Nazis.

The near-riot occurred about midnight following a big Catholic demonstration, the first since the union of Austria and Germany on March 13.

Cardinal Innitzer, who less than a month ago said efforts toward a agreemet with the Nazis had ended in disappointment, had summoned Viennese Catholic youth to St. Stephen's Cathedral for the sermon and prayer. More than 10,000 attended, with many standing outside.

The Cardinal, in the address, said the church had been robbed of many things in the past months, including its organizations and banners, but had also gained a better appreciation of the value of community spirit.

When the Cardinal left the Cathedral, crowds eagerly acclaimed him with "Hail Innitzer!" and "Hail Christ" and "we want to see our bishop!"

After he had returned to his residence adjoining the massive gothic cathedral, crowds demonstrated before the cafe, and the police were called out.

Italy Irked By American Note on Jews

ROME, Oct. 8 (AP)—Italy's international relations were irritated today by American and Vatican concern over new anti-Semitic regulations laid down by the Fascist Grand Council.

The United States embassy awaited a reply to a note handed to Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano by Ambassador William Phillips asking whether American Jews are to be given the same consideration Italians get in America.

The note was understood to point out that Italians in the United States are not discriminated against for reasons of race or religion.

About 200 American Jews are threatened with expulsion from Italy under the council's regulations affecting foreign Jews. Many have applied to the embassy for help or information.

The Vatican was concerned over Fascism's ban on marriages between Italians and persons of "non-Aryan or alien races." Approval was withheld until Vatican authorities saw how the ban would work.

De Valera Warns Britain Irish Disunity Is Peril

By CHARLES A. SMITH

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 8—A flat warning to Great Britain that continued disunity of Ireland is "intolerable" was voiced today by Premier Eamon De Valera of Eire.

In an exclusive, authorized statement to International News Service concerning reports that Eire is about to demand a plebiscite in Northern Ireland on the partition issue, De Valera made it clear that his controversy with the British government on this point is not yet over.

"Everybody knows," he said, "that the position of the Nationalists in the six countries of Ulster is well-nigh intolerable.

"I have pointed that out again and again. I have also pointed out that the area is cut off and does not correspond to any historical or geographical unit.

"Neither does it correspond with the area where there is a local majority in favor of the partition of Ireland. The boundary was drawn without reference to the wishes of the inhabitants.

"I have stated many times that solution of the problem of partition is essential for a complete understanding and co-operation between the peoples of Britain and Ireland.

"At a time of crisis, if the problem still remains unsolved, it may well give rise to a very dangerous situation.

"However, the statement of a press agency that I have suggested a plebiscite in Northern Ireland is mere speculation. It was not based on any recent statement made by me."

If Garbo Weds Stork Is Out!

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—Greta Garbo isn't married to Leopold Stokowski (she intimated) and furthermore (she declared) if she does ever find the "right man," there won't be any children to tote a gun to war.

Hollywood's most elusive actress emerged from her shell long enough to furnish newshawks with these facts when she returned from a long European vacation.

The film star refused to answer direct questions about her reported romance with the aging leader of the Philadelphia Orchestra. But, by implication, she gave the news that as yet she is ready for neither marriage nor motherhood.

Dressed entirely in blue, Miss Garbo received reporters in the library of the liner Kungsholm. After some verbal fencing she was asked if she would go so far as to say whether she "would like" to be married. She replied:

"Perhaps—if the right man comes along. If I could find the right person to share my life with, perhaps I would."

She revealed also that she had at least ideas as to what sort of man this "right person" will be.

"I don't know exactly," she said thoughtfully, "but I'd know him when I saw him. Would he be a musician? Oh, it wouldn't make any difference want he was."

During the voyage Miss Garbo called on a Latvian woman who gave birth to a baby on the ship. This furnished an excuse to ask if she would some day like to have a baby of her own. She stroked the sandy hair of her page-boy bob thoughtfully and answered:

"I am always interested in little babies. I don't know if I would like to have one of my own; the world seems too difficult at present. I wouldn't want to raise a child that might have to go to war. But I can't discuss that; I'm no politician."

Miss Garbo wore a powder-blue suit of mannish cut softened by a frilly handkerchief. Her blue stockings were of ribbed wool and even her suede slippers were blue.

She voiced weariness at being followed wherever she went, at never being allowed any privacy. She said:

"If I could only combine motion picture work with a strictly private life, that would be ideal. If I could have two faces, one for the camera and one for myself, I might have some peace!

"You have no idea what it means to be chased by crowds everywhere you go? They mean well I suppose, but they make life miserable. If I could get away from it all I'd be a lot happier.

"I want to be alone. I don't think I have ever said that to anyone, but I did feel it. Yes, many times"

The interview opened with the direct question whether Miss Garbo was married to Stokowski, with whom she traveled in Europe.

"Please," she protested, "I never talk about my private life! I never have, and I never will! I'm afraid if I was married you would know all about it."

Hurley Plan For Homes Studied

Federal and State authorities today conferred on a proposal by Governor Hurley to finance a home rebuilding program for those whose property was wiped out by hurricane and tidal wave.

John Carroll, chairman of the State Housing Board, and Bank Commissioner William P. Husband both were asked to make tentative survey of the number of homes destroyed and then sit down with Federal housing authorities to find a remedy.

Under the Hurley plan, home owners without funds to rebuild would be given outright grants of 50 per cent by Federal authorities and a loan of 50 per cent by the State Housing Board, to be repaid in 15 years.

In outlining the plan, Governor Hurley declared:

"I firmly believe that the Federal and State governments should aid in the rehabilitation of these home owners whose homes were wiped out.

"With a 50 per cent outright grand by the Federal government, the State would set up machinery to rebuild these homes and offer them first to the former owners on a 15-year mortgage plan.

"The owner would only have to repay the money advanced by the State board."

Strike Shuts U. S. Pants Factory

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 8 (AP)—A recently completed $260,000 pants factory, built by the federal government in nearby Mt. Pleasant township to give employment to homesteaders at Norvelt, was closed today by a strike of eight women and ten men workers.

Mrs. Sarah Karp, president of the Norvelt local of the United Clothing Workers of America (CIO), said the strikers demanded recognition of the union as exclusive bargaining agent, reinstatement of a dismissed watchman and a closed shop with checkoff of union dues. Wages are not an issue.

Lawrence Police Killing Is Myth

LAWRENCE, Oct. 8—A confession by a seaman in New Orleans, La., that he murdered a Lawrence policeman in 1928 was repudiated here today by local authorities.

New Orleans police wired Lawrence officials that James Sullivan, 30, address unknown, made the confession. Records here show no killing of an officer from 1926 to 1929.

Curley Calls For Support in Flood Control

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

Former-Governor James M. Curley today pushed his drive for re-election in a campaign for the Roosevelt flood control program in the Connecticut, Merrimack and Blackstone valleys.

At the same time Leverett Saltonstall, Republican candidate for governor, opened his arms to western Massachusetts farmers with an invitation to discuss and solve their problems.

In a speech at Lowell, Curley urged residents of Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont to drop their claim to state's rights and fall in with the New Deal flood control program.

PROTECTION FIRST

He declared that state's rights must be secondary to protection of life and property in sections often threatened by recurring floods.

Curley also accused Republican mill owners of removing their textile plants to southern states to punish labor for becoming sufficiently strong to press their wage and hour demands.

In speaking to Greenfield farmers, Saltonstall invited all engaged in agricultural pursuits to bring their problems to him. He said the Republican party would give them aid.

HITS $100 DINNER

The $100-a-plate dinner of the Democrats, to be held in Boston October 25, took a lashing from Horace Cahill, Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor, in a speech at Springfield.

"I wonder," Cahill said, "as they dine if they will be mindful that the political principles they espouse keep 50,000 men and women in this commonwealth out of work, for with the retreat of industry has come a retreat of jobs.

"I need dwell no further on this forthcoming Democratic feast than to remark that a party has indeed grown prosperous in public office when it can summon men to pay $100 a plate in the name of harmony."

UAW in Clash On 32-Hr. Week

DETROIT, Oct. 8 (AP)—The United Automobile Workers' movement for a 32-hour week until all workers have been recalled by motorcar manufacturers brought a clash today with one of the "big three" in the industry.

At the same time a strike vote was scheduled to be taken by UAW members in one division of a second major producer, and the shorter work-week was one of the issues in that dispute.

Fifteen thousand auto workers were made idle when union employes at the main Plymouth plant of the Chrysler corporation refused to work because the management notified them the 40-hour week would replace the 32-hour week which had been in effect.

NAZI and Fascist menace in Europe is topic of lectures here by Phyllis Bottome, English author, caught by camera as she relaxed at Touraine before resuming program.

'British Peers Afraid!'

Author Flays Czech Peace

England today stands criminally responsible for the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia and the growing dominance of Hitler and Mussolini in European politics, charged Miss Phyllis Bottome, noted British authoress, who has just arrived here to lecture upon her first hand experiences with Naziism and Fascism.

Miss Bottome, in private life Mrs. Ernan Forbes Dennis, is the author of many notable books, including the currently popular "The Mortal Storm," a novel dealing with trials of a Jewish family under the Hitler regime.

"When I say England," said Miss Bottome, "I, of course, mean the small, aristocratic, ruling minority. This aristocracy, ruling England for these many centuries, is now fearful for its life with growth in power of the so called lower classes.

"The aristocrats — including such personages as Neville Chamberlain, Stanley Baldwin, Anthony Eden and others—in the selfish effort to insure their continued rule, have sold the honor of their country and, what is worse, the liberty of other peoples whom they had sworn to protect."

PREDICTS WAR

"Good Old Neville's deal with Hitler has doomed Europe, to at least another generation of Naziism and Fascism. If war were halted—and I doubt Hitler would have gone to war—it is only for a short time before the threat will be with us again, war is not far off.

"I don't think that former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden would have been any stiffer in his dealings with Hitler.

"Mr. Eden didn't resign so much under pressure as he did because he didn't wish to embarrass Stanley Baldwin. The rest of the country can go hang, but one aristocrat doesn't embarrass another. It isn't done."

Miss Bottome, who engaged in aiding refugees from Austria while her husband was employed as passport control officer for the British embassy, told of the cruelties and heartlessness of the invading Nazis.

HITLER'S COAT

Mr. Forbes-Dennis, accompanying his wife on her lecture tour, recalled for her a personal experience with Hitler just before he ascended to power.

"Oh, yes," said Miss Bottome. "We were eating in a cafe when the proprietor came to our table. He said my husband had hung his coat over that of Herr Hitler and that Hitler wanted it removed.

"My husband told the proprietor to tell Herr Hitler he could remove it himself.

"When Herr Hitler walked from the restaurant he appeared to be such an insignificant person!"

Child Sues Over Wrecked Toy

IRVINGTON, N. J., Oct. 8 (INS)—Under the impressive title of "suit No. 59,696 second district court," a $50 civil action of six-year-old Johnny Rogers against an ice cream concern for wrecking his new toy express wagon was on record here today.

Johnny solemnly affirms that one of the company's trucks wrecked his bargain $5.98 vehicle "at a time when the plaintiff had his vehicle lawfully parked at the curb."

Frankfurter Visits President; Court Hint Hit

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 8 (INS)—Felix Frankfurter, famed Harvard law professor who has placed many of his more brilliant students in important New Deal posts, arrived at Hyde Park today to be an overnight guest of President Roosevelt. He was accompanied by Mrs. Frankfurter.

Frankfurter has been prominently mentionad as a likely appointee to the Supreme Court vacancy, but the President, in telling of his guests, warned newspaper men "not to go out on a limb."

Those close to the White House were of the opinion that Frankfurter would not be the choice.

Since the retirement of Justices Sutherland and Van Devanter the country west of the Mississippi has remaine dunrepresented on the court, with the exception of Justice Butler, who comes from the Minnesota borderline.

Brokerage wires have hummed the past week with a rumor that Judge Irving Lehman of the New York State court of appeals would get the appointment. Judge Lehman is a brother of Governor Lehman.

Mr. Roosevelt today ordered the Federal Forestry bureau to co-operate with CCC and WPA workers in combating the threat of forest fires in storm-ravaged New England states. The President acted when he was advised that rain had not fallen in most New England areas during the past ten days.

Pick-a-Back Fails in Goal

CAPETOWN, South Afrie, Oct. 8 (INS)—Falling short of its goal because of fuel shortage, the British pick-a-back plane Mercury, which recently visited the United States, landed at the mouth of the Orange river today after a non-stop flight from Dundee, Scotland, a distance of about 6000 miles.

Scheduled to fly all the way to Capetown, the plane was forced to alight about 400 miles to the north.

Running out of fuel, the plane failed to break the 6306-mile non-stop record, established by three Soviet airmen in July, 1937. The Russians piloted a land plane over the North Pole from Moscow to San Jacinto Cal.

Strip Gal Broke, Clothes Did It

CHICAGO, Oct. 8 (INS)—Mona Leslie, lissome night club artist, who made herself famous by taking clothes off, has gone broke putting 'em on, she admitted today.

Mona, who did a diving act at the Chicago World's Fair and more recently has gone in for artistic strip-teasing in night clubs, filed a petition in bankruptcy, saying she owes $2410.

"It's mostly for dresses and coats and things like that," said her attorney, "and all she's got to pay with is a $100 check for the current week."

George Lederer Dies at 76

He Gave Stage First Glamor

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (INS)—George W. Lederer, noted New York musical comedy producer, died of a cerebral hemmorhage at 7:35 a. m. today in Physicians Hospital, Jackson Heights. He was 76.

Mr Lederer, who originated the lavish form of musical comedy elaborated on by Florenz Ziegfeld, had been hard at work on several new projects when he suffered a stroke on October 3 but carried on throughout that day.

Next day his physician, Dr. Joseph Brodie, had him taken to Physicians Hospital.

Mr. Lederer was the former husband of Reine Davies, who died in April of this year. Coming here recently from California, he made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Glory Amsterdam, the wife of Edward Amsterdam.

Others who survive him are a younger daughter, Geraldine Lederer, 13; a son, Charles Lederer, Hollywood scenarist; a sister, Mrs. Tillie Oppenheimer, and a nephew, Sidney Lewisohn, of New York.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

He 'Made' Musical Revue, Glamor Girl

The dazzling musical revues of today, the beauty and precision of the showgirls, even the costumes and the lighting effects and the smooth contiguity of music, plot and chorus—all these stem from the genius of George W. Lederer.

Even before the great Ziegfeld made his name an international synonym for lavishness and beauty in the world of make believe, Lederer had pioneered the way. And in this sense, Ziegfeld was not so much an originator as a borrower and elaborator of Mr. Lederer's ideas.

He was the father of the modern musical show, whether it be a revue, musical comedy or the stage panoramas that are put on in the great movie palaces.

He was the man who originated the name "vaudeville," and he was the visionary who took the variety shows of the 1880's and '90's, and fashioned them into compact, scintillating spectacles.

STAGE STRUCK AT 12

There is no difference, fundamentally, between the modern revue and "The Lady Slavey," which Mr. Lederer produced in the Casino Theatre in New York in 1894.

One other distinction, and no mean one, must be added to his name. He was the first man to publicize showgirls so that they became national and international beauties.

Mr. Lederer was born in Wilkesbarre, Pa., in 1861. The glamor and excitement of the show world first touched him when he was 12, a boy soprano of local fame. In 1873, the company of "The Naiad Queen" visited his town. The boy haunted the show during its short run in Wilkesbarre and when it left he was with it, as a member of the company.

For three years he toured the road with the show and then returned home to finish his schooling. His virtuosity took him next into the field of outhorship and he was not 20 years old when the first of his short stories was accepted and published by a magazine.

He came to New York and sent contributions to "The Boys' and Girls' Weekly" and to "Frank Leslie's Weekly." The theater still was his chief interest and enchantment and he took to writing burlesques, skits and "afterpieces" for the variety theaters. He explained these "afterpieces" by saying:

"In those days every variety theater closed its performance with an afterpiece, in which all the actors who did turns in the 'olio' took part. Many of the afterpieces served as bases for plays which I produced later."

For a short space, Mr. Lederer became a newspaperman, serving as assistant and then as drama critic of The Morning Journal. But the attraction of the theater was too strong and he went back to it, this time not as a writer or actor but as a producer.

STARRED LILLIAN RUSSELL

In partnership with A. H. Canby he took over the lease of the Casino Theater. Their first production was the comic opera, "Lady Nicotine," in which the great Lillian Russell was starred. He later was the personal manager for the tours of the actress.

The lease of the Casino was attracted by the writing of a young assistant editor of Town Topics, quired in 1893. Mr. Lederer was attnamed C. M. S. McLennan. He persuaded Mr. McLellan that his future lay in the theater and made him a librettist.

McLellan wrote "The Lady Slavey," which Mr. Lederer also produced in 1893 and which was his first musical comedy. The same author wrote "The Belle of New York," which became famous for years afterward as the musical comedy which made more money than any other play. Mr. Lederer took one of his stars, Edna May, to London in it and subsequently it was played in practically every country in the world.

It was in "The Lady Slavey" that the producer made his first contribution to American musical comedy, a contribution which seems amusing now but which then was regarded as a radical step. He introduced dresses for the showgirls, instead of the ugly tights which were then the vogue.

LOVELY IN SKIRTS

He explained this later in his own colorful fashion by saying:

"Tights act on a girl the way a collar without a necktie acts on a man. A girl in tights, however sweet and pretty she may be, looks hard and unappealing. A girl's limbs are pretty largely in the degree that they are not seen or, when they are seen, in the degree they are momntarily seen.

"I took girls who were intrinsically pretty but whose appeal had been spoiled by other producers through putting them in tights, and I made them wear fluffy skirts and they became lovely creatures."

Mr. Lederer put on the first revue ever seen in America in "The Passing Show," at the Casino in 1894. On the afternoon of the opening day he still needed a song. He, Barney Fagin and Lucy Daly sat around a piano and concocted "Riding in a Heavenly Rowboat," which was to become the most popular song of the day.

More and more shows began to be produced under the Lederer leadership. To name a few: "The Little Trooper," "The Merry World," "An American Beauty," "The Casino Girl," "Princess Chic," "The Belle of Bohemia," and, a tremendous success, "Floradora," in 1898.

Ella Snyde skyrocketed to fame in "The Whirl of the Town" and "The Belle of New York." When she climaxed her career in "The American Beauty," she was known as one of the beauties of the world.

MANAGE DTHEATERS

In 1899, Mr. Lederer became manager of the New York theater, where he produced "The Wild Rose." This was the show in khich Marie Canill started her rise to stardom and which numbered among its players Irene Bentley, Evelyn Nesbit and Eddie Foy.

It was Mr. Lederer who first realized the vealue of highlighting geauty and he had a formula for it that still stands today. He realized that the hard glare of a spotlight detracts, rather than enhances a girl's beauty. So he contrived to soften the lines of face and figure by use of amber footlights, and of stepping up the lighting on the stage imperceptibly when the star made her appearanceto give the illusion of radiance.

"Like a diamond, a very pretty girl needs a setting," he said.

Other young women that he made glamorous and enchanting were Helen Lord, Ruby Reid, Goldie Mohr, Helene Girard, Emmie Lennox, Winnie Echard, Louise Forester, Veronica Stafford, Vincie Tohey, Daisy Lucas and Lotta Faust.

WON RADIO FAME

"If a girl is half-way good looking," he said in another maxim, "all you have to do to make the public believe she is a raving beauty is to assure them often enough that she is. Lillian Russell was to a considerable extent made by this kind of propaganda, despite her ample share of good looks. So was Maxine Elliott."

Mr. Lederer continued his run of successes and went into partnership with H. H. Frazee. They produced "Angel Face" in 1920 and "The Girl in the Spotlight" the same year. In July, 1928, he was appointed general manager for Sam H. Harris Productions.

Of late years Mr. Lederer entered radio work. He was chairman of a board judging the talent of amateurs on a coast to coast program and also produced another radio feature, "Glamour, Gossip and Greasepaint" which became popular.

Mr. Ledderer was the former husband of Reine Davies, who died in April of this year. Their son, Charles Lederer, is one of the most brilliant scenarists. A daughter, Pepi, died three years ago.

CHIEF ROLES in "If I Were King" are played by Frances Dee as Katharine De Vaucelles and Ronald Colman as Francois Villon.

Movie Fans! Here's a Chance To Win Prizes

Movie fans! Here's good news—a brand new contest with an opportunity to win a substantial cash prize, or guests theater tickets and, incidentally, to have a lot of fun too.

The contest is based on Ronald Colman's latest starring venture, "If I Were King," a Paramount picture which will have its New England premiere Wednesday at the Metropolitan Theater.

Basil Rathbone is featured as King Louis. Ellen Drew flies closer to stardom as the sympathetic Huguette, and Frances Dee is lovely as Katherine.

Francois Villon saved Frances when he was king. What would you do today, in this age of modernity" if you were king?

Write the answer in 100 words or less, and send your letter to the Contest Editor, Boston American, 5 Winthrop Square, Boston, Mass. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight Thursday, October 13.

Prizes total $100.00 and will be awarded as follows. First, $50.00; second, $25.00; third, $10.00; fourth, $5.00; and five prizes of $2.00 each. To each of the next 25 will be awarded one pair of guest tickets to the Metropolitan Theater. Read further details about this contest in tomorrow's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Baby Taken From Father

Edmund E. Farrell, 38, of Maple street, Hyde Park, today relinquished custody of his 16-month old daughter, motherless since last July on a ruling of Judge John V. Phelan of Salem Probate Court.

The baby girl was given to her maternal uncle, Thomas F. Norton of Bradford street, Salem, who had cared for the child since the death of the mother.

Holds Public Against R. R. Cut

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—A spokesman contended today that railroad labor had the support of public opinion in its resistance to a proposed 15 per cent wage cut.

George M. Harrison, representative of a group of rail brotherhoods, added that the workers would ask business leaders and other witnesses to testify before President Roosevelt's fact-finding board in order to show "widespread opposition" to the pay cut.

In response to questions from Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard Law School, a board member H. A. Enochs, last of the management witnesses, said rail executives had not considered the relation of railroad wages to those in other industries when they decided on the wage cut.

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

ONE OF FOUR MEN named in the Dies investigation as a secret agent for a foreign country has been a commentator on a Boston radio station . . . For the past three months, recordings have been made of his speeches . . . He will get notice Monday that his services are required no longer . . . Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer announces completion of a picture, starring Dixie Dunbar, entitled "Once Over Lightly" . . . The studio's Boston representatives may like to forward the information to the coast that the oversigned and Radio Pictures jointly own the copyright to a story by that name, which was filmed as "Don't Tell the Wife" . . .

GEORGE HOLLAND

The title "Once Over Lightly" was coined as part of this column two years ago . . . Which gets us around to a bit of log-rolling . . . Chris Cross, columnist of a Worcester Sunday paper, generously gives a salute in this direction with the remark: "Personal nomination for the best chatter column head we have seen: 'Once Over Lightly,' from George Holland's shaft 'Boston After Dark'" . . . In rejoinder — and here's more and more log-rolling—Mr. Cross's heading "Scoop Du Jour" is very tasty . . .

Great plans for a revival of mammoth stage shows by the local Keith office have temporarily gone a-glimmering . . . It was found impractical to buy the Marx and Ritz Brothers, Gypsy Rose Lee and Bill Robinson, Kay Kayser, Benny Goodman, Rudy Vallee or Guy Lombardo, and Eddie Cantor for successive weeks . . . Eddie Cantor is still a possibility, for a week in November . . .

For the nonce, the Keith policy at both the Memorial and Boston will be the playing of pictures . . . James Barton or Ethel Merman are possible bookings for the Mayfair . . .

Count Enrico Leanordi, who travels incognito as Count Leanardo Ricci, watched both shows at the Brown Derby last night . . . Douglas Whitney, an executive of a Boston electrical company, was given a bachelor dinner at the same night club . . . His marriage to Hope Farwell of Beacon street will occur Thursday . . .

Didi Foret, the beautiful Parisienne who has been working in the Derby's chorus, will play her final show tonight . . . She will become the bride a week from tomorrow of Pierre Godart, a Paris silk merchant, who met her through an introduction by Tony Brando . . . They will be married in New York, journey to Paris for the honeymoon, and reside in San Francisco.

Once Over Lightly:

At the Trocadero, girl-friends entertained Miss Margaret Wall of Dorchester at a "nightclub shower" the gifts being appurtenances for the wine-cabinet. She will become the bride Thursday of William Higgins of Dorchester . . . Billy Payne is pinch-hitting for the ailing Dick Stutz at the Brown Derby . . .

With Ranny Weeks back in town, the successful alliance of Ranny and Payne may be renewed . . . They were a box-office combination at the Cocoanut Grove a couple of seasons ago . . . The Cocoanut Grove has discarded its artificial ice floor, and Jacques Renard's music and a fast-moving and entertaining show is scheduled for continuance next week . . .

Ethel Sydney sings with the Renard music, and well . . . Arlene Wallace and Allen and Kent are the dancers . . . The Hotel Lafayette has opened for the season, and Emile Coulon, Jr., is raving about his new chef, Pierre Bacque . . . Pierre has been working at the Seabright Tennis Club in New Jersey . . . Sid Rinehurst is playing in the Lafayette's cocktail lounge . . . He will be remembered as the pianist-leader of the Metropolitan Theater's Platinum Salon . . .

Fred Waring will feature "If I Loved You More" on his new radio program tonight . . . Gertrude Woodsum is featuring the same number in her pianologues at the Keyhole of the Copley Square . . . Jim Richardson, New York and Los Angeles newspaperman is representing Words and Music, the music-publishing firm owned by Waring, Paul Whiteman, Guy Lombardo and Abe Lyman . . .

"If I Loved You More" is a Words and Music song, and Jim has been getting around town . . . But the song is an excellent ballad, by Charles Newman and J. Fred Coots, and would be a "natural"—if plugging, in these days of competition, were not an inescapable angle of the music business . . .

Sheila Barrett, who gave the Lewis Bonick orchestra boys a boutonniere apiece on her closing day at the Mayfair, will receive a bouquet from the musicians when she opens at Billy Rose's Casa Manana in New York tomorrow night . . . The card will read: "Get the headwaiter . . . Call the manager" . . . LaBarrett finishes a number with these words.

Fred Waring on Air Tonight

Ladies and gentlemen—Fred Waring!

Not a sweeter note has been struck in a news way with regard to radio comings and goings than word that Fred Waring and his music making "Pensylvanians" group are filling a choice coast to coast network spotlight tonight and every Saturday night henceforth at 8:30 and over WNAC waves in New England.

Fred figures to feature a substantially augmented "gang" for this new broadcasting series. His organization of entertainers totals 60 persons, trained vocal and instrumental topnotchers every one.

There has been buzzing aplenty in the professional realm in connection with the new "Waring formula" as scheduled to be introduced. Fred himself has succeeded notably in keeping the set-up in the secret classification, which in itself is decidedly difficult when 60 talented artists are involved and the musical world, the press and the public are prying to determine the nature of his surprise.

Indications are however, that the main source of his pride is the 55-voice glee club, consisting of the orchestra members and selected vocalists, which it is felt he will rotate in "lead" and "bit parts" throughout the half hour on the air. His keynote theme is to be "The Song is the Thing" and he has made known that the new and striking ballad "If I Loved You More" as well as the classic "The Rosary" and "The Very Thought of You" will provide highlights.

DONNA DAE

Stuart Churchill, labeled by Waring as the "stratosphere tenor," is announced as slated for a special place during both the "If I Loved You More" and "The Rosary" impressions.

Donna Dae, the 17 year old singing and dancing find is also being given star rating.

A new swing trio called "Two Bees and a Honey" are making their radio debut with Fred and his company and promise a very vivid adaptation of "A, B, C—" in the modernized nursey-rhyme manner for their specialty.

Then there's the "Twin Trio" combination, plus his All-College chorus, the latter formed for some standout collegiate football medley staging in the distinctive Waring style.

MARKETS BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN COMMENT

BOSTON, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8 1938

Better Times Have Arrived

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

American business men believe that better times are here and further expansion is in the offing.

It is not a question of sentiment being cheerful for the benefit of the press. There are no quotes by this or that leader in the above statement. It is the result of a composite survey by Standard Statistics.

The field staff of the organization personally contacted with high corporation officials and found that orders received are increasing.

Of the comments on sales prospects 55 per cent said that orders placed on their books had picked up another 15 per cent reported little change or decrease and of the same group of executives 75 per cent were optimistic and only 25 per cent neutral in expressing their opinion the future would be very much further.

Cheerful sentiment was widespread according to such figures that it is supposed to be now fully reflected in the stock market and that as the next move is up, not down.

It has been a remarkable week for the stock market, and it is just possible that it is standing on the threshold of another sensational rise. Rails have not given the full confirmation we would like, but as a group their persistency seems to foretell nearby agreement with the bullish signal registered by industrials.

While we will not do anything pending the desired behavior of rails, no great harm will be done in considering possible upside limits on a when, as and if basis. On the Dow-Jones industrial index prices could lift all the way to 170. The rails by the same source could travel into the middle 40s. Time is uncertain, but the distance is great enough under normal conditions to cover a good part of the coming holiday season.

General Motors Reports Sales

NEW YORK Oct 8 - General Motors Corporation reported today sales in September to dealers in the United States and Canada, together with overseas shipments, totaled 96,333 units. This was a decrease of 43,982 units from 92,317 sold in the same month a year ago.

Sales in the first nine months aggregated 795,749 or less than half of the 1,594,378 units sold in the first nine months of 1937.

Sales to consumers in the United States in September totalled 40,794, against 88,564 in September last year. Sales in August were 64,925 units, and in the first nine months they amounted to 682,599, compared with 1,279,930 in the comparable period of 1937.

Sales to dealers in the United States amounted to 10,369 units compared with 58,181 in September, 1937 and 34,752 in August. For the nine months sales to dealers were 532,695 units against 1,282,235 in the comparable period last year.

Court Continues to Hear Utility Case

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8 (INS)—The consolidated investigation of the relations between Utilities Employes Securities Co. and the Associated Gas & Electric Co. will be continued by the Securities and Exchange Commission, a refusal of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals here yesterday to stay the proceedings.

The court rejected the Utilities Employes' Securities Co. plea after S. E. C. attorneys had maintained that separate investigations would produce the same evidence, with publication of records for the court to consider later.

Monopoly Probe Seen As Unfair

By LEWIS HANEY

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—A New York city reader asks: "What is the real meaning of this monopoly investigation?"

Answer: It is not an investigation of monopoly; but is an attempt to find out how far the government can go in becoming a partner in American business.

The aim will be to marshall and publicize all the criticisms of business and to put business on the defensive. Then an effort will be made to prove that business needs government planning.

Those who are most active in the investigation are based in favor of some form of state socialism.

There is also the obvious scheme of the politicians who started it to have it serve as an alibi for the depression and the failure of the New Deal economic program and to provide arguments for the New Deal election campaign.

• • •

Maywood, California, writes: "In a recent discussion various ideas were brought forth as to the meaning of national income. It was decided to mean the benefits people get from production, goods, services, etc. My idea is that it means purchasing power or earning power. Please give your opinion."

Answer: The decision reached by your group points in the right direction. Your idea about "purchasing power" may be interpreted so as to be correct, but is subject to incorrect interpretation.

Money income is generally very misleading. (1) Many people get money income which is not money as farmers do when they consume vegetables and milk they produce. (2) The big question is what will the money buy and that depends upon how high prices are. (3) There are other questions about how the money is spent, wasted or saved.

"Real income" is what counts but it is not easy to measure. On the average for a series of years you can say it is the total domestic output of commodities and services, plus imports, plus stocks at the beginning, minus exports, minus stocks at the end.

But you can't get figures for all commodities, and "services" can't be measured at all.

The big delusion is that money income is an exact amount of "purchasing power." The fact is that you may double the money income, without adding anything to the real income. Money is no good except for what it will buy.

• • •

Senatobia, Miss., writes

"In your syndicated article you assure your readers that southern farmers should live well on $10 per week. Would you live on such an income? Why say we should?"

Answer: I said no such thing. In fact, I specifically said

"I am not defending their living standards."

Britain Seen Bowing to New World Order

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service
Economic Commentator

NEW YORK Oct 8 (INS)—It has been widely noted that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's compromise attitude in recent European settlements marked a definite lowering of the prestige of the British Empire.

It seems to me that it would be more historically accurate to characterize Mr. Chamberlain's realistic attitude as part of a rearrangement of a changed situation.

While Mr. Chamberlain's concessions may have startled certain segments of world opinion, the underlying British situation, it seems to me, is that his success in averting general warfare was a tremendous boost and prestige for the British Empire.

The whole economic set of European countries was profoundly affected and left confused in many of which the United States served as the workshop of the world, supplying manufactured goods for food stuffs and other raw materials produced in surrounding countries.

The first important change to be made was when the American economic system ceased to buy and kept to a bare minimum its purchases in the region.

Kay Francis Denies Romance at End

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor International News Service

(Copyright, 1938, by International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 8.—When Kay Francis didn't rush off and marry Baron Erik Barnekow as soon as she finished her movie contract, rumors were current in Hollywood that she had not only said adieu to her career but to her marriage. Nothing could be further from the truth. Kay tells me she and Erik are more in love than ever, but for business reasons they probably won't marry immediately.

"These business reasons I hope soon to know," concern a new contract the blonde baron has just made which takes him on airplane demonstrations from state to state. Rather than interfere with her business affairs of course he be parted on their honeymoon. Kay felt it only fair to let him devote these next few months to his business. She is already wearing her wedding gift, a ruby and topaz necklace and bracelet. Kay will make no pictures until after the first of the year and it's my guess that the marriage will not take place until then.

Barbara Hutton's renunciation of her American citizenship is more dramatic than any fiction, so much so that several studios have toyed with the idea of doing a picture based on that subject. But it has remained for Universal to take an incident similar to the Hutton citizenship angle for a coming movie. Arthur Caesar, who sold U the idea, is calling his drama Woman Without a Country."

Hollywood's rodeo fans are getting ready to swing their lariats and flourish their ten-gallon hats when the rodeo gets under why at Victorville. Headed by Carole Lombard, Clark Gable, the Andy Devines, Gene Autry and other western-minded movie folk, the rodeo will have as many stars in hand as any swank social event and will probably be twice as much fun.

Big plans are under way with Victor McLaglen promising to bring along sixteen of his crack gal riders, and Harry Carey moving in with a chuck wagon to make camp with a group of Navajo Indians from his Saugus ranch.

Chatter in Hollywood: Fight enthusiast Robert Taylor and Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis met yesterday on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot. Ever since Bob played a fighter in "The Crowd Roars" he has been fight-minded. I hear that Joe almost relaxed into a smile when he and Bob were introduced.

In the mail box: Edward Barkdell, of Philadelphia, is highly indignant because Lili Damita went on with her plans to sail for Europe instead of dashing to Errol Flynn's bedside when he was ill. In justice to Lili, I'd like to explain that she wanted to return but Errol wired her it wasn't necessary.

Rowena Wilson, a self-appointed critic from Brooklyn, writes that she has just seen "If I Were King" and "Basil Rathbone acts rings around Ronald Colman, the star. If Mr. Rathbone doesn't get the Academy Award for this there is no justice!"

Snapshots of Hollywood

Mary Astor and Manuel Del Campo, her bridegroom, seem to be very happy. Saw them dining tete-a-tete at a cafe, and Mary tells me he has a job as a film cutter; Ona Munson, hobbling around with a sprained ligament in her leg, has given up tennis. Her boy friend, Ronnie Simon, once Glenda Farrell's heart throb, sends daily wires. Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone in a dinner party with the Norman Fosters and George Murphys.

A HOPEFUL PORTENT

The Editor Says:—The beginnings of a healthy protest in American colleges against radical and destructive propaganda are happily discernible.

If the movement is fostered, the rule of the dilettantes and the professional disparagers will be effectively challenged.

Before the reversal, H. L. Mencken slyly alluded to vicious tendencies on the campuses when he advised callow Brain Trusters at Washington to return to their colleges and resume teaching sophomores to hate their fathers.

The disposition of immature intellectuals to sneer at products and policies made in America gave Communists and Pinks a chance to turn classroom lecture platforms into soapboxes from which to preach hate.

At length, however, the stable, patriotic element is being heard.

Notre Dame is soon to report on several years of scientific fact-finding concerning the essentials of the economic life of the American people.

Writing in the Hearst Sunday newspapers, Dr. James F. Kelly, president, Seton Hall College, at South Orange, N. J. reveals the extent of the growing impulse to teach appreciation of American institutions in citadels of higher learning.

Dr. Kelly raises a significant voice when he intelligently points out:

Our purpose is to acquaint the future voter, first, with an understanding of his country's structure. Such knowledge should awaken an admiration for the advantages of the form of living bequeathed by his forefathers. It should immunize him against the Utopias of agitators, who magnify the inevitable imperfections our government or any government must have, or who condemn the political structure because of the abuses of politicians.

Education has a vast opportunity and obligation to make known and appreciated a system of government which allows education itself to remain free in order to produce men free and equal.

DISCOVERING AND DISSEMINATING THE TRUTH ARE THE FUNCTIONS OF A UNIVERSITY.

"SWING MUSIC," say Radcliffe girl debaters, "represents freedom. It is beneficial, integral to the tempo of American democracy, and offers a new vocabulary aiding the robust background of American social life."

The defense of "jitterbugs" and modern dancing was voiced to refute claims of Technology young men who, for the sake of argument could see nothing but gloom for today's "shag-mad" generation.

Personally and editorially, we shall not enter the controversy. Youth has always had its own musical preferences. When the waltz first appeared, elders objected in vain. When jazz became popular, fathers and mothers again protested to no avail. And, unless we miss our guess, it is the same now.

Consequently, we wisely defer forming an opinion until we go to Boston Garden October 24 to hear the bands of Rudy Vallee and Benny Goodman playing for the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser Christmas Basket Fund.

NEW ENGLAND anxiously awaits the start, tomorrow of the international fishermen's races. Fortunate indeed was the compromise that ended the misunderstanding which for a time threatened to postpone the competition between Gloucester's Gertrude L. Thebaud and Nova Scotia's Bluenose.

For thousands who will see the contest, Time will cease its movement, and they will look back over the years to the romantic yesterday when vessels like the Thebaud and the Bluenose plied the seven seas, carrying men and merchandise from one continent to another.

Children especially should see the races.

The Human Side of the News

Getting News In Europe

By EDWIN C. HILL

ANY NEWSPAPERMAN who has ever worked in Europe knows that getting the news there is one of the toughest assignments he ever shouldered. In the happiest of peace times living is a struggle and Europe is exasperating even if you happen to know the language.

Even in democratic France and England you don't land up a back-slapping acquaintance with the senator or the mayor or the chief of police. You fight, scheme, wrangle and wangle for what you get.

And you don't call up a big panjandrum in the middle of the night to ask him this or that. If you did the eighth assistant butler probably would call the police.

AGAINST this background the performance of American correspondents in these days of tension in Europe getting news, getting it straight and getting it out seems altogether miraculous. In my opinion it just about tops anything in the annals of our great and unique free-for-all in news reporting.

In Spain, Ethiopia and China, the news scouts have been right under the guns of the enemy. Ten of them have been killed. In Madrid and Valencia they have written their stories with bombs shattering buildings around them and have gone out to get the legging

ACE JOURNALIST H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
Roving Foreign Correspondent for International News Service

it around the battle zone and whacking out clean-cut, objective accurate and interesting copy.

Certainly their work is a triumph of both craftsmanship and courage.

These correspondents the most effective among them, are distinctly reporters. They do not filter their facts through any mesh of their own opinions or prejudices. And when you are reporting something as important as this current world crises that requires a degree of objectivity and cool detachment which is all but superhuman.

THE importance of such reporting is obvious. Many of the great French and British newspapers are ham-strung by partisan political or financial interests and, in Germany and Italy, are merely dictators' hand-outs. Countless millions thus have no source of world intelligence, no knowledge of what is going on in their own country.

It is easy to see how suppression of the free press adds immeasurably to the welter of rage, fear, bewilderment and confusion which is Europe today. They are fighting in the dark. The American reporters are contributing not only to historic clarification but to world enlightenment outside the central zones of madness and if there is anything in the world which will break through this dead-end of hatred and frustration it is the facts which they are gathering daily under the muzzle of the guns and the hysterically blasting loud-speakers.

Above all this splendid job of news reporting will give light for a sound and sensible orientation of American policy in this critical hour.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

IN 1890 Brooklyn was the fourth largest city in the United States and never knew the meaning of fear. It was started by Hollanders who called it Breuckelen after a village 15 miles from Amsterdam. Jan Everson Bout was elected the first schepen. Cornelis Dockeen ran a ferry from Fulton street, Breuckelen, to the foot of Peck Slip, New York.

TODAY nobody knows what a schepen is or cares.

BREUCKELEN'S first schoolmaster, Carel de Beauvois, got there in July 1661 and built a schoolhouse at Second street and Bushwick avenue. The land was purchased from the Indians for the usual bottle of whiskey and two headache powders. In 1698 Breuckelen contained 174 people. That wasn't a bad crowd for the kind of baseball they were playing. During the Revolution the Egban erected a fort at Pierrepont and Henry streets.

THE VILLAGE trustees sued Jacob Patchen for refusing to re-lay the pavement in front of his house on Old Ferry street. They won and Brooklyn became a city. That was in June, 1816, and then somebody figured Brooklyn should have a baseball team. Which is not only a hunch of a different color, but also a dead one.

In an Address Before the Advertising Club of Baltimore.

A MEMBER of the Roosevelt Administration, Jerome Frank, member of the Securities and Exchange Commission, demonstrates in his new book, "Save America First," that Marxism is outmoded.

Those who seek to apply Karl Marx's antiquated ideas to the contemporary scene may masquerade as progressives, but they are really reactionaries trying to turn back the clock of history to the mid-nineteenth century.

Thus the soap boxer, a self-called progressive, is a nonsmoker.

Mr. Frank makes this clear in a few words when he points out:

"Since the days of Karl Marx there has come into being, as a heritage of applied science, a new industrialism, resulting from a new type of producers' goods. We have had what might be called a second industrial revolution through the advent of power-driven mass-production plants.

"In the recent development of the American continent of such power-driven mass-production plants we have a key to widespread human welfare, in this country, of a kind which could not have been contemplated by the wisest of mid-nineteenth century thinkers."

IN these annals of steady conquest of the frontiers of knowledge, there is no room for hatred and class warfare. The essence of prosperity inheres in the very antithesis, namely, in group harmony, and in a balanced set of relationships among the various producing groups—farmers, factory workers, and men in trade, the professions, and the various service occupations.

When such balance exists, the groups can fully employ one another by interchanging among themselves the products of their hours of labor.

But every objective observer of experience knows that business success cannot be erected on a foundation of hatred. On the contrary, the animating force in the success of a business enterprise is love, love and respect for fellow men.

It is a variation of the love instinct not hatred which impels business to base policies on service to customers. Every wise and successful enterpriser woos his customers, and seeks to benefit those who deal with him through an ever increasing multitude of friendly services, and through supplying an ever improving quality of goods at progressively lower prices.

As a result, you can, for example nowadays buy a better automobile for $700 than was available two decades ago for $5000.

IN CHEMICALS, electric utilities, in radio, and in the whole array of comfort goods, similar records were made through a steady improvement in technology.

Although the politicians and the social scientists are most articulate, these striking results in lifting the living standards of the people have been made through the channels of business.

A NEW HIGH in perfumed chichi manifested itself as part of El Morocco's seasonal opening when Bergdorf-Goodman ran display insertions in the papers advertising evening gowns in colors to match Jimmy Reynolds's murals which decorate the entry to Mr. Perona's parlors this year. Since no amount of attention to dress, or even a certificate of character from your pastor, could have gotten you a bible, and what with folk arranging their attire and coiffures just to stand in the lobby, another year probably will find patrons having costumes designed to match the policemen and carriage shelters outside and there will be special dress effects in which to lounge on the Morocco sidewalk while waiting for a table.

The opening of Morocco, the first night of Clare Boothe's play "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" and the appearance on the specially tailored winter form of Ed Sayre, the social impresario of Fifty-sixth Street, are one of them a self-contained cosmos in itself contributory to indicate that what is known as the season was on, and it was with a stunning crash.

Gene Tunney and his wife, Polly, and Tex Rickard were there in force and their last and truffled guests flow out of the kitchen to come to rest on the tables of Mrs. F. Leal Vreeland, Mr. Sayre's Hartmann with escort their escorts and animate objects. At Jack and Charlie's to start off, lush was so good that a genuine Indian maharaja and his suite had to be shown to the back room, which made almost every one unhappy.

YOUR REPORTER encountered Henry Luce and Miss Boothe departing from the Colony at 8:30 in a vast tan imported automobile outfitted with footmen and attaches and remarked that he hoped it would be a gala evening at the Henry Miller where Miss Boothe's first play since "He Who Gets Slapped" was about to open. But the Luces were on the way to Dr. Lynch for the evening. Said they'd seen their own play and wanted to catch the newsreels.

The Henry Miller was practically indistinguishable from the show window of Cartier's with every one you ever heard of from Mrs. Edwin Goodman and Valerie Ziegler to Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, Betty Lawford and Mrs. Allan Lehman glittering expensively even after the lights were turned down. It was an elegant occasion, and even if "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" wasn't the resounding smash of "The Women," it still adequately reflected Miss Boothe's happy talent for the human race in general and did a nasty, bang-up job on playwrights.

THE REAL FLESH of the evening, of course, was at Morocco, which has been described at least in part by Mr. Beaton's and where the customers were encharted to eat in each other's laps lest all the fat girls stand in the gangways as they were jammed inside the premises at all.

Fashionable Socialites Flock to Concert

By BETTY ALDEN

BOSTON HOSTESSES need plan no more Friday afternoon affairs for quite some time . . . for with unanimous acceptance, like nothing else in Boston, the Symphony Orchestra takes over and in social circles nothing is considered a greater faux pas than to issue invitations for an affair which would conflict with the regular Friday afternoon concerts in Symphony Hall . . .

Yesterday's opening concert of the new season was an auspicious occasion, especially since it marked the beginning of Dr. Serge Koussevitzky's fifteenth year as conductor of this famous orchestra . . . The whole audience stood up and applauded warmly when the conductor and his musicians appeared on the stage before the opening measures of the program . . .

Every seat was occupied and during intermission the lobbies were crowded with music lovers straining ears and to greet old friends and reiterate over and over again "Isn't it wonderful to be back again? . . . Among the hundreds of socialites on the throng were Mrs. Eliot Codman the former Mary Louise Spaulding, who has just returned from her honeymoon to attend the concert with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Daniel Codman . . . Mary Louise's mother, Mrs. Bartlett Hayward was another fashionable concertgoer her dark coiffure brightened by a tiny turban edged with a puff of shirred crimson velvet . . . The bride wore a sheer black wool dress with a silver fox scarf and Mrs. Daniel Codman's beige wool was charmed by a beautiful scarf of beige lynx . . .

Fur Trimmed Hats Popular

MR. AND MRS. GUY MURCHIE of Dedham, who spend most of their time in the tropics, were warmly welcomed by many Boston friends as they strolled through the lobby . . . Mrs. Murchie's wine red suit topped by a small feathered turban . . . Mrs. George Tyson of Louisburg Square who has just returned from her summer home in Newport, set off her blonde curls with a smart black costume and a tiny hat tipped with crimson ostrich feathers . . .

Flattering little fur trimmed hats were popular with the smartly dressed women . . . Mrs. Dudley Pickman, Jr., who attended with Mr. Pickman, wore one of mink to match her mink cape, and Nancy Richards of Groton also had a band of fur framing her face and dark hair . . . Mrs. E. Wiley Robb attended with her daughters, Roberta and Betsy, and Mrs. Frederick Ayer came up from Hamilton with her daughter, Anne . . . Evidently chilly breezes were a dime a dozen on the North Shore yesterday morning, for both Mrs. Ayer and Anne, as well as many other North Shoreites, were turned out in beautiful fur coats . . .

Husbands returning from State street and wives who had spent the afternoon at the concert, met at the Ritz Bar around five . . . where much attention was directed toward Anne Clark Roosevelt who was in a little party with Mrs. James Roosevelt and the latter's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cushing . . . Anne had her little dachshund, Percy, in tow . . . and looked very pretty in a beige tailored coat and small brown hat . . .

Edith Shaw, Lilian Fernald Plan Debuts

THE RITZ will be lively on the evening of October 26 when Mrs. Sohier Shaw gives a dinner dance there for her daughter, Edith, and the latter's close friend, Lilian Fernald . . . This party will be Edith's official debut and will precede by a couple of days the tea which her grandfather Sohier is giving to celebrate her eighteenth birthday . . . Edith and Lilian have been friends since childhood and are constant companions at deb luncheons and teas . . . Lilian is the daughter of the Fred Fernalds of Beacon street and Marblehead Neck . . .

Ketchup Flavors Braised Beef Beautifully

By MARTHA LEE

Fall days bring us back to the subject of meat cookery and more substantial meals. This means that many of us will be looking about for ways to use the less expensive cuts of meat to make more savory dishes.

Ketchup cookery is thrifty cookery too. Why not use take an inexpensive piece of meat add a dash of that rich tomato flavored sauce and produce as fine a dish as ever a chef could make.

There's another big point for frugal buy. There's no need to pick up the flavor of a more costly piece of meat. Try it some night with a tender piece of beef to be used with vegetables. By gum it's delicious with a flavor all its own with the meat getting all the better.

Dobie's Interest In Cornell Stars ¦ Short Stand Is Aid to Gehrig

By JACK CONWAY

GIL DOBIE will have more than a passing interest in the Harvard-Cornell game . . . Most of the members of Cornell's crack eleven were freshmen at Ithaca as Dobie left to come to Boston College . . . Cornell has the most powerful football eleven it has had in years, and looks forward to having a successful season.

Mr. Boston

Meanwhile Dobie has built a powerful club at Boston College . . . In its two games this season, Boston College has played in brilliant style . . . Next Wednesday at Fenway Park the Eagles will get a severe test when they collide with the University of Detroit.

With the World's Series in the Yankee Stadium today, tomorrow and Monday in the event a fifth game is necessary, Lou Gehrig may be expected to break out of his batting slump . . . The short right field stand was built especially for Babe Ruth . . . It has also been a tremendous help to Gehrig . . . Any kind of a high fly to right field is good for a home run . . . Joe DiMaggio has also done some of his most effective hitting at the Yankee Stadium . . . Sure, the Cubs still have a chance, but they are much in the position of a 20 to 1 shot at a race track . . . The Yanks must come to a dead stop for Gabby Hartnett's team to go on to victory.

Now that they are considered out of the series by most of the experts, the Cubs will probably relax and play more normal baseball . . . The Cubs have been a bit jittery in the games played so far . . . Perhaps this is due to their close association with the Jitter-Bugs during the closing days of the National League pennant drive

Danno Was Ready to Join Colors

WHEN IT LOOKED as if Europe was going to war, Dan O'Mahony was prepared to re-enlist in the Irish Free State army . . . Danno was a soldier before he came to this country to seek the world's heavyweight wrestling championship . . . Danno has been in Ireland wrestling . . . While O'Mahony has taken out his first American citizenship papers, he is still a citizen of Ireland, and would have been among the first to have answered the call to the colors.

Steve Casey is now in Ireland, and was planning to shoulder a gun instead of tossing rival mat stars over his husky shoulders . . . With the war scare over, O'Mahony and Casey are planning to return to this country.

If Yvon Robert wins over K. O. Keverly at Paul Bowser's opening show at the Garden on next Thursday night, he will demand a title match with Casey . . . The appearance of the "The Shadow" on the Garden card has aroused considerable curiosity . . . "The Shadow," who has piled up a long list of triumphs in Western rings, will take on Tommy Rae of Springfield

Weights Assigned by Charley McLennan

THE WEIGHTS for the $3000 added General Green Handicap, the feature at Rockingham Park today, were assigned by Racing Secretary Charley McLennan who has been pinch hitting for John Turner . . . Wise Prince has been given 125 pounds, and will probably leave the post a favorite . . . McLennan is also Racing Secretary of Pimlico which has the War Admiral-Seabiscuit match race signed for November 1 . . . Next season Charley will be at Suffolk Downs . . . During his stay at Rockingham, McLennan has found time to hop down to Suffolk Downs for several visits . . . Following the closing of the Maryland racing season McLennan will head for Florida where he is Racing Secretary at Hialeah Park.

Mrs. Cora Merrill, mother of Mose "Cowboy" Merrill, has arrived at Rockingham Park from her home at Blackfoot, Idaho . . . Mrs. Merrill will remain at Rockingham for the remainder of the meeting.

Its still "Win With Wilson!" . . . Six winners for the king of handicappers at Rockingham Park yesterday . . . Wilson is leading all rivals at picking winners at the Rockingham meeting as he did at every other meeting in New England this season . . . Following the close of the Rockingham Park meeting Dave will journey to Narragansett Park which opens on next Thursday.

Random Shots at Target

IT IS UNLIKELY that Uncle Sam A. C. will attempt any Garden boxing promotions after the dog racing season closes . . . Matchmaker Paul Venuti is of the opinion that dog racing is too much competition for the average run of boxing shows . . . Now if the weather man will furnish some warm weather, Sheldon Fitzgerald, General Manager of the present meeting at Wonderland Park, would be happy.

Lou Smith is relying upon today and Columbus Day to give some needed heat to the Rockingham mutuel handle . . . The racing at the bakers, N. H., track has been of the best, but it looks as if some folks are running out of fresh money . . . The rain storms, hurricane and cold weather have also cut into the attendance figures at Rockingham.

Pearson Vs. Bryant

FRANK CROSETTI, hero of the World Series, rubs ice on his left hand, swollen from stopping so many Cub liners.

Interna. and News Photos to Boston A.

Trim, Shave

"That's all I need to beat those Yanks," said Clay Bryant, Cubs hurler, as he got the works in a New York tonsorial emporium this morning.

NEW YORK Oct. 8 (AP)—Ideal weather greeted baseball fans today for the third World Series game between the New York Yankees and the Chicago Cubs at Yankee stadium.

The sky was clear and bright sunshine promised typical Indian summer temperature by game time.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—As Father Knickerbocker greeted his 12th World Series in 17 years with his Yankees and Chicago's Cubs invading th Stadium this afternoon for their third game, the big question was not who would win the title but whether the Bruins would be able to salvage even one game from the wreckage.

Nobody in his right mind could see "Gaby" Hartnett's National League champions, two decisions down after two starts, turning around and taking four out of five to gain the crown the senior circuit has been seeking in vain since 1934.

And it was the sentiment of the experts that unless the Windy City crew could come through today, the Bronx Bombers would smash their way to a four straight triumph in becoming the first team in history to win the fall classic three years in a row.

It took the Yanks of 1936 six games to beat the Giants while the years Rifles used up five games to tame the Terrymen. It is a case to strengthen the conviction of those who rate the current McCarthy machine the greatest of all time if it will strive to do.

PLAY PERCENTAGE

Manager McCarthy, however, refuses to go out of his way to do it. He insists on taking every game in stride. He could come back in the third and fourth tilts with his aces, Charlie Ruffing and "Lefty" Gomez, who accounted for the first two games in Chicago. Both would be sufficiently rested and could probably wrap up the show by tomorrow night.

But the Yanks' chief insists upon playing the percetange right to the finish.

He'll pitch Monte Pearson today and shoot Spurgeon "Spud" Chandler tomorrow. If there remains a necessity for further games after that, he'll have Ruffing and Gomez strong to cash for the clutch tilts.

The Cubs, on the other hand, have no pitching alternative. For better or worse, they must and will nominate Clay Bryant, a virtual two who is absolutely lacking in World Series background.

Fro all his inexperience, this young Virginian is a fair country chucker. He turned in 19 victories for the Cubs during their pennant march. He's extra fast, has a real hook and is nobody's bargain when he has his control. There are times when he's wilder than wild.

PEARSON QUESTION MARK

Whether he'll be able to come through where Bill Lee and "Dizzy" Dean faltered remains to be seen.

It promises to depend considerable on what kind of a day Pearson is having.

A shrewd cuss Monte. He can be the greatest of most puzzling pitcher ever seen, depending on his mood. He's been known to hurl a no hit game in one start and get hazed to an early shower the next time out.

He's usually at his best, though, when it appears he is pitching for a winning cause, as he will be today and if he isn't super brilliant, as he was in beating the Giants once each of the past two falls it will be because he isn't feeling well.

OUT FOR TWO WEEKS

He's been out of action for the past two weeks suffering from sinus trouble and it wasn't until yesterday that he announced he felt equal to the task of facing the Cubs.

There'll be a bigger crowd by some 20,000 at today's New York inaugural than saw either Chicago contest but it will fall far short of capacity. The remodelled Yankee Stadium seats 72,000, and at least 10,000 pews are expected to be vacant.

The Cubs' failure on their home lot has greatly lessened interest in the engagement, and there are major football contests at New Haven, West Point and Princeton to further detract from Gotham's baseball excitement.

All the same if the customers who do invade the Bronx Orchard are furnished a game as good as either of the first two they'll get their money's worth, regardless of who wins.

The Yanks played brilliant ball. The result was in doubt almost up to the final out each afternoon. Luck settled both issues. The Yanks had all the good breaks, the Cubs all the misfortune.

Frankie Crosetti, fielding standout of the first game and batting star of the second tilt, and Joe Gordon a sensation offensively and defensively in both battles, are soaring top hero honors at this writing.

That's only because this keystone pair is playing for the lead

Frick in Mourning Wears Pirates' Badge

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (INS)—Ford Frick, president of the National League, is wearing a mourning button on his coat lapel but not for the Cubs. It is the emblem of a World Series that never took place, the Yankees vs. Pittsburgh Pirates.

No more handsome design has ever been wrought for a World Series press badge. The face of a bearded pirate is etched on it and the engraving is "World Series, Pittsburgh, 1938."

Orders for press buttons must go in early and so the Pittsburgh club now finds 350 of these pirate emblems on its hands.

Tech Teams Take Field

M. I. T.'s varsity cross country and soccer teams go into action today with Oscar Hedlund's tan-clads facing Conn. State harriers over the four-mile course at Bunk in Park. At Providence the Tech soccer team plays two of its aces, will pow-wow on the pitch.

Tech's harriers are conceded a fine chance to the dual meet with Conn. State. Capt. Don Crosby is the team's standout, but will have competent support from such mates as Olaf Rostad and Chester Rees.

Malcolm Gedge, coach of the Tech booters, has his worries. Luzon and Garrett, two of the team's best hopes on the offense, are not available this fall. Alex Laker, captain, and leading scorer in the New England league a year ago, until forced out with a severe injury, will carry the brunt of the Tech scoring power today.

Clarkson, Eleven At Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 8. The Springfield College gridsters were set to entertain a strong Clarkson Tech eleven at Pratt Field here today to open their home schedule. With a 6—6 tie with Amherst last Saturday under their belts, the Maroons expected to win.

The Maroon backfield was to be made up of Captain Roger Clark, Buck Walker, Lin Gatly and Rud Solomon.

Pick Green To Defeat Princeton

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 8 (AP)—Ed Flaherty's Dartmouth football team, lacking three men from last year's undefeated outfit, moves into Palmer Stadium a heavy favorite to trounce Princeton before an expected crowd of 4,000.

With Bob MacLeod and Steve Howe to do the passing and Bill Hutchinson to leave passes bounding, the Indians hope to duplicate last year's 30 to 9 victory.

Princeton will bank upon a line averaging 195 pounds [illegible] to stop the Big Green attack. Two other fast men, Bill Jackson and Dave Allerdice, are expected to see action in the backfield. The Tigers' attack will be carried by Captain Tom Mountain and Allerdice, halfbacks.

The Princeton-Dartmouth rivalry dating back to 1897, shows Princeton on the long side with 12 victories against four for Dartmouth. Two games ended in ties.

Three Ivy Elevens Face Guillotine

By WILL CONNELL

College football aristocrats bared their necks for the axe today as Saturday dawned.

The Ivy elite in general, and the once Big Three in particular, were as lambs led to slaughter if current estimates meant a thing.

Columbia was the favorite to [illegible] to West Point, off its win over Yale, but the Cadets were primed. Here was the best event of the day for the casual fan well worth the pilgrimage, football faithful were making from remote points.

On the strength of his great second day performance, which included getting three hits and knocking in all the Cubs runs, Joe Marty will stay in centerfield instead of being used only against southpaw pitching, as was originally planned.

14 Steeplechasers In Gold Cup Race

LIGONIER, Pa., Oct. 8 (AP)—Handlers of 14 steeplechasers groomed their horses for the fourth running of the International Gold Cup, feature of the fall meeting at the Rolling Rock Club.

The Gold Cup, which brings out a parade of fall fashions worn by the socially prominent as the climax of a week of social affairs, is a three and half mile race over 18 brush jumps. The first three finishers qualify for the 1939 running of the Grand National at Aintree, England.

Fans Work Relays

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—A few hardy fans who were willing to stand all night to be sure of seeing today's World Series game between the Yankees and Cubs found ways of making their lot less hard even though police banned the customary soap boxes, blankets and bon fires.

The first half dozen or so who arrived decided to hold places for one another while groups of two or three left the line to eat or to sleep for an hour in a nearby garage.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Ex-English Ace at Syracuse

Twenty-three years ago, Harvard was a 10 to 3 favorite over Cornell . . . Today the odds are reversed, for from the hills "Far Above Cayuga's Waters" comes one of the greatest elevens in the East . . . While across the Charles there are no Mahans, Boles, kings, Hartes, Watsons or Gilmans . . . In the event that Clay Bryant fails to check the Yanks today, Gabby Hartnett can start right for Millville . . . Ralph Guldahl, the United States open champion, is in a Miami hospital recovering from a minor operation . . . Charlie McPhail, former English High, Clark School and Lawrence Academy star, has enrolled at Syracuse . . . The Interscholastic ski champion of Norway and the runner-up are in the freshman class at Dartmouth . . . Fearing that he might be obliged to jibe so frequently as to take the sticks out of his Bluenose, Capt. Angus Walters seloed the 18-mile triangular course selected for the Fishermen's races . . . The New Orleans $10,000 purse will be donated by Mayor Robert S. Maestri . . . He can't be a politician . . . Harry Ellinger, Dartmouth line coach "Mutt" Ray and Dave Camerer, former Big Green linemen, will be in a huddle after the Harvard-Cornell game . . . The New Jersey Golf Association has barred all public links players for State championships . . . The "munie" players didn't have a chance . . . The vote was 67 to 6 . . . All players on the Maroon roster who have not been sold by Dec. 1 will be declared free agents . . . The colleges are side-stepping that old Everett combination of Cleo O'Donnell and Jack Cannell, who are handling football at St. Anselm's . . . Coach Joe Primeau is working out the candidates for the Marlboro, Jrs. at the Ravina Rink, in West Toronto . . . Eddie Dagnino who is president of the Bear Hill Golf Club, has been appointed timer for Bruin games at the Garden . . . He succeeds the late Bill Carleton . . . Before entering Alabama, "Hargan" White, now playing guard for the N. Y. Giants, toured the United States as a boxer and wrestler . . . Art Ross and Connie Smythe argued all through the recent N. H. L. meeting in Toronto . . . But after they'd removed their make-up, Connie tipped Art off that his "Shoeless Joe" couldn't miss that afternoon at Woodbine . . . The pay off was $19.50, $10.20, $1.90 . . . And Uncle Arthur had fifty smackers riding on "Shoeless Joe's" nose . . . A bunch of Western Canada junior hockey stars have matriculated at St. Mike's at Toronto . . . They will major, and also minor, in art . . . The "Wilfred Crossley Day" should draw a capacity crowd to Norfolk on the holiday.

'Gabby' Hartnett Visits Doctor

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (AP)—Gabby Hartnett, the Chicago Cubs manager and catcher, who played the first two games of the World Series with a badly damaged hand, visited a doctor soon after his arrival from Chicago today. Gabby didn't tell the outcome of the visit except to say he would be in the lineup as usual.

Hartnett tore open a finger on his throwing hand during one of the "crucial" games in the late National League race and injured the same finger the following day.

9 to 1 Favorites

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Betting Commissioner Jack Doyle made the New York Yankees prohibitive favorites to take the World Series over the Chicago Cubs, as a result of their victories in the first two games.

He quoted odds of 9 to 1 against the Cubs and 6 to 5 against the Yankees for the series. For Tomorrow a third game he quoted 2 to 5 against the Yanks and 10 to 1 against the Cubs.

Undefeated Winthrop Meets Watertown

Winthrop High, heading towards an undefeated season, will take on Watertown at Victory Field today. If Bob Perry's charges overcome this obstacle they appear certain to remain in the select win class.

Fresh from successive triumphs over Brookline and Woburn, Winthrop will take the field an odds-on-choice to down the Watertown gridmen.

The fighting fishermen from Gloucester carry to many guns for Swampscott and a three touchdown margin victory is predicted.

Shucco Saved By Police

BERLIN, Oct. 8 (AP)—Tony Shucco of Boston, after having scored what looked like a knockout over Adolf Heuser, German and European light-heavyweight champion, in their 12-round bout at Deutschland Hall last night, was disqualified in the fifth round for what the referee termed "unfair fighting."

Shucco, holding a slim lead on points at the time, backed his man against the ropes in the fifth. Both fighters tumbled, Heuser landing in the center of the ring flat on his back.

He was counted out, but, when he was unable to rise, a medical examination showed that he had contracted a severe dorsal muscle sprain.

The 8000 spectators rose to their feet and began venting their ire against the American, until finally Berlin's police president, Count Heinrich Helldorff, who was one of the spectators, had to call uniformed police to escort Shucco from the ring and protect him from possible attacks by the crowd.

Sign Lou Nova For Bout Dec. 16

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (INS)—Promoter Mike Jacobs signed Lou Nova of California, recent conqueror of Gunnar Barlund, to meet Tommy Farr of Wales Dec. 16 in Madison Square Garden.

According to the elimination plans of Jacobs, the winner of the Nova-Farr battle will clash with Max Baer in February and the ultimate victor will challenge Joe Louis for his heavyweight title next June.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—New York Yankees scored third straight victory, 5-1, over Giants in world series as National Leaguers' defense cracked up behind Hal Schumacher.

THREE YEARS AGO—Players of Detroit Tigers each received $6504.78, a record share, for world series victory over Chicago Cubs, who received $4198.50 each.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Aurora, featuring play of Elmer Boesche, won Monty Waterbury Cup polo tournament.

Amherst Playing Jumboes

The Tufts gridmen open their home season by playing host to Amherst at the Tufts Oval after a respite of 10 years. The last two games between the two colleges ended in deadlocks, and the Jumbos are out to prove their supremacy which they have claimed since winning the previous game in 1912.

Neither team demonstrated any strength in their openers last week, the Jumbos losing 23-0 to Colby, and Amherst playing Springfield to a 6-6 tie. The Lord Jeffs are given a slight edge.

The Jumbos have shown improvement in blocking and tackling. Ralph Sherry is starting his first game, Eddie Smith, a hard-working junior, will take over the end berth played by veteran Jimmy Dodwell.

Full Game Played in 32 Minutes

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Copyright, 1938, by International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 8 (INS)—Here's a hod of baseball mortar for the three little pigs to build themselves a house of gags: 1—On September 19, 1910, Mobile and Atlanta played a full game in 32 minutes. 2—And a game at Carrollton, Kentucky, started at 10 in the morning and was called at dusk the same day in 1868 with only seven innings finished.

There used to be an expression "Chicagoed," meaning you were blanked. It started on July 23, 1870, when the Chicagos egged the Mutuals of Manhattan by the score of 9 to 0. We ain't heard it lately.

Old Hoss Radbourne pitched for the Providence Grays on August 21, 1883, blanking the Phillies, 28 to 0. The Phils made 28 errors. The spitball was originated by Frank Corriden but never used by him in a game.

He originated it in 1902 for having fun in batting practice. He threw it against a pitcher named Strickiett, who developed it in Sacramento. Cheebro brought it to perfection. The first perfect baseball game was bowled by Richmond of Worcester against Cleveland on July 12, 1880. Nobody got a hit, nobody walked, nobody got to first, nobody in the grandstands.

Al Spalding of Boston pitched every game during the four seasons from 1871 to 1874. A more modern record is Rube Vickers of Seattle who won 53 out of 68 games in 1906. Neither Spalding nor Vickers had to have anybody mash their potatoes for them. At the age of sixty either man could put a barrel of cement on his head like a hat.

Bomar of the old Three-Eye Decatur team finished the season by winning 20 of the last 22 scheduled games and tying the extra two. If a 1938 pitcher goes over three innings his arm sounds like a mad genius tightening up a violin. Back in 1908 Bill Durham of the Indianapolis team threw and copped five doubleheaders.

Up until 1858 bats were carried in self-defense. Even the umpire had one. The Cincy Reds were the first to pay ball players in 1868. The first bases were wooden posts four feet high. The second baseman had to climb a tree to tag a runner out.

IN 1881 the Albany outfield consisted of the three Mansell Brothers, in the old National Association in the season of 1880 players were permitted to use square bats at the plate. Stovey stole 156 bases in 1888. Brooklyn was the first team to put a fence around its outfield on May 15, 1862. It could also use a fence around its infield.

Daily double: Up until 1858 the batter was out on the first bounce. Now the gate crashers are. The American League started on January 29, 1900, with Indianapolis, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Kansas City, Detroit, Chicago, Minneapolis and Buffalo. Now they're all buffaloed.

The first night game to be played under electric light was Fort Wayne and Quincy at Fort Wayne on June 2, 1883. Cuthbert of the Philadelphia Keystones was the first runner to slide head first into a base. That was in Brooklyn in 1865. It just fitted him. The first baseball scandal in history occured on September 28, 1865 when three of the mutuals sold out to the Eckfords. The score was 29 to 11. The price agreed on was a big, red apple for each extra run over 18.

Holy Cross To Start First Team

By WALTER KILEY

WORCESTER, Oct. 8—Holy Cross, taking no chances on being caught napping by the Jaspers of Manhattan College, will shoot its first stringers in at the very start of this afternoon's Fitton Field game.

Dr. Eddie Anderson refuses to be deceived by the apparently indifferent performances turned in by the New Yorkers in their opening defeat by St. Bonaventure 7-6 or by their later 20-0 victory over Niagara.

So it is that the Purple first string backfield comprising Capt. Bill Osmanski, Henry Giardi, Henry Ouellette and Ronnie Cahill will answer the opening whistle with Hilary Renz, big Brooklyn crasher as the fifth so-called regular, ready.

Today's game is the seventh between these two rivals, with the Crusaders as yet to bow their plumage in defeat. However every one of the previous games was hard fought and the victory margins slender. Two of them resulted in tie decisions.

Holy Cross is still an unknown quantity and will be until after this afternoon's battle. It met with little trouble in dieposing of Providence College and Rhode Island State thus maintaining a clean slate which dates back to its 13 to 12 defeat by the Eagles of Boston College on that snow-swept December afternoon of 1935.

Huskies Open With Bates

Opening its home season today, Northeastern faces a tartar in Bates when the two elevens clash before an enthusiastic alumni day crowd at Huntington Field, Brookline.

Bates, beaten in its first two starts by Dartmouth and New Hampshire, respectively, is bent on licking the Huskies.

Northeastern, using practically the same club that waged such a stirring battle against the Eagles, has the edge.

Captain Jimmy Connolly, has been selected along with quarterback Foxy Flumere and Gurney will toss the pigskin. Their targets will be Art Johnson and Conny Sullivan.

Built around one man, the Bates attack features Art Belliveau, 152-pound flash, in the role of chief runner, kicker, and passer. He is a former Cushing Academy star.

Wilson Picks 6 More; 2 Second Choices Win

WIN WITH WILSON!

You just can't help it if you play his Rockingham selections daily.

The ace handicapper of the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser was leading his handicapping rivals going into the Friday meeting, and widened his margin by coming up with six more.

That's correct, SIX winners—AND his second choices came out on top in the other two races

Here's proof:

Infinata, in the first, paid $9.06.

Harp Weaver, in the second, paid $4.22.

Grisette, in the third, paid $4.70.

Mixwell, in the fourth, paid $5.66

Napper Tandy, in the fifth, paid $4.94.

Wilson had 'em all, a ROYAL FLUSH.

His second choice, in the sixth, Saidona, won it, paying $21.30.

DAVE WILSON

He had Belleek, the winner of the seventh, which paid $5.70. In the eighth, his second choice, Ram's Head, won to pay $10.92

To tune up for his field day, Wilson had three winners Wednesday and three more Thursday.

They were Bugle Ann, $6.20; Happy Picnic, $4.94; Midshipman, $4.18.

Thursday he had High Place, $4.30; Tiempo, $6.94; Last Romance, $4.10.

Wilson has had 56 winners since the Rockingham meeting opened on Sept. 12. And he has had a total of 288 horses in the money to date.

Wilson has set the pace for New England's handicappers in every meeting since his debut in this sector five years ago.

He'll continue to do so. He just can't break the habit.

WIN WITH WILSON!

Follow his selections in the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser.

Selections for Fast Track

BEST BET—BIT OF SORROW

ROCKINGHAM PARK, Salem, N. H., Oct. 8.—Bit of Sorrow, a consistent plater from the stable of W. G. Wilson is singled out as the most attractive hazard on today's well-balanced bill.

Bit of Sorrow closed ground like a runaway express train to finish third to Victorious Ann and Fordina in a swiftly-run sprint race the other day.

The distance of today's sixth race is five-sixteenths longer, and it figures right to measure.

Carroll Bierman, who stands out like Boston Light over the local riding colony, will have the mount on the aptly-named six-year-old son of Black Toney, Paradise Lost.

FIRST RACE

Many Moons, Bag O' Wind, Staregan

MANY MOONS and BAG O' WIND figure to finis's as named in the opener, but both horses are on the also eligible list. With the top pair on the sidelines, the race would seem to order for STAROGAN. The latter failed to run back to a big feature in her most recent start. She is probably heaps better than indicated in that dull effort.

SECOND RACE

Richstrike, May Music, Somebody

RICHSTRIKE'S most recent start was much too sad to be true, and it should not be taken seriously. Previous good race entitles him to the call. MAY MUSIC, a bangup fourth to Muggins in most recent race, shapes up as the probable favorite and danger. SOMEBODY may be heaps better than indicated in his last race.

THIRD RACE

Rosemain, Lady Hay, Curves

ROSEMAIN was barely beaten by Happy Picnic in her most recent start, and she is worthy of another chance. LADY HAY, a dead-short third to Elliptical the other day, shapes up next best in what appears to be strictly a two-horse race. CURVES is a keen possibility for show honors.

FOURTH RACE

Dark Beau, Nemont, Sweet Adeline

DARK BEAU, third to Aurente in a swiftly-run sprint the other day and ahead of that barely beaten by Fred Tracey, shapes up vastly superior to the field listed to perform in the fourth event. NEMONT, close up in all recent endeavors, figures slightly better than SWEET ADELINE.

FIFTH RACE

Wise Prince, Dunade, Trouper

WISE PRINCE, 124 pounds and all, looks like the probable winner of the fifth race. DUNADE, with only 105 pounds up, gets a big figure under the weight allotments and may prove troublesome at some stage of the journey. TROUPER will be a factor if fit and ready.

SIXTH RACE

Bit of Sorrow, Buster Boy, Weary Flower

BIT OF SORROW will have to drub BUSTER BOY. The latter figures only slightly better than WEARY FLOWER under the weight allotments.

SEVENTH RACE

Mariato, Bold General, The Singer

MARIATO'S only start of the current meeting was in the nature of a conditioner, and it was good enough to merit top preference here. BOLD GENERAL would prefer a muddy track for his best effort, but he looms dangerous on any sort of a track in a cheap affair of this sort. THE SINGER is really the class, but he must show marked improvement over late Narragansett Park races to earn brackets.

EIGTH RACE

Motley, Conrad Mann, Somali

MOTLEY and CONRAD MANN figure very close in the neighbrah. I'm going to tempt fate by rating them as named. SOMALI looks next best.
